MASSACHUSETTS MATERIAL

An occasional list of selected recent publications about Massachusetts, or by Massachusetts authors, which have been acquired by MSL, in our continuing efforts to build as comprehensive a Massachusetts collection as possible.

For the most part, periodical material, school catalogues and annual reports are not included in this listing, although there will be an occasional exception. We do have, however, extensive continuing holdings in these areas.

All items listed herein are in MSL collections and may be seen here. To obtain personal copies of any listing, write to the publisher as indicated. If no publisher is shown, the author is to be assumed as the publisher. Entries whose call number start with J are microfilmed items, prints of which can be supplied if needed, at a small fee.

For material published by the Commonwealth, see our Monthly Checklist.

Publication no.527, approved by Alfred C. Holland, State Purchasing Agent.

MASSACHUSETTS MATERIAL

An occasional list of selected recent publications about Massachusetts, about Massachusetts people or by Massachusetts authors, which have been acquired by State Library in our continuing efforts to build as comprehensive a Massachusetts collection as possible.

All items listed herein are in MSL collections and may be seen here. Note that groupings are popular rather than formal; and that starred items do not circulate. To obtain personal copies of any listing, write to the publisher as shown. If no publisher is indicated, the author is to be assumed as the publisher. Entries whose call number starts with "J" are microfilmed items, prints of which can be supplied at a small fee.

For publications of the Commonwealth, see our Monthly Bulletin.

Publication no.527, approved by Alfred C. Holland, State Purchasing Agent.

MASSACHUSETTS MATERIAL

An occasional list of selected recent publications about Massachusetts, about Massachusetts people or by Massachusetts authors, which have been acquired by State Library in our continuing efforts to build as comprehensive a Massachusetts collection as possible.

All items listed herein are in MSL collections and may be seen here. Note that groupings are popular rather than formal; and that starred items do not circulate. To obtain personal copies of any listing, write to the publisher as shown. If no publisher is indicated, the author is to be assumed as the publisher. Entries whose call numbers start with "J" are microfilmed items, prints of which can be supplied at a small fee.

For publications of the Commonwealth, see our Monthly Bulletin.

Publication no. 527, approved by Alfred C. Holland, State Purchasing Agent.

features, resources, and human activities" as interpreted by the 765 colored maps it contains. It was begun with funds appropriated by Congress in 1963 and ultimately completed by the U.S. Geological Survey with the cooperation of more than 80 federal agencies. The atlas contains essentially two basic types of maps, general reference maps for basic locational information and special subject or thematic maps which "convey significant concepts of man-environment relationships and inter-actions and constitute scientific bases for analyzing the economic development of the country." The data for these were collected from official or other primary sources within the federal government to give a "scientific presentation, in cartographic format, of the principal characteristics of the country, including its physical features, historical evolution, economic activities, socio-cultural conditions, administrative subdivisions, and place in world affairs." The thematic maps cover a wide range of subjects and often append notes referring the user to source documents or maps of larger scales. Subjects covered in this section include land use, air pollution, battle sites, water resources, Indian tribes and languages, monthly sunshine, seasonal pressures and winds, exploration and settlement, natural gas pipelines, earthquakes, ethnic populations, family income and many other more common topics such as vegetable and poultry production. Also included is a subdivision giving over 60 current types of administrative divisions, such as counties, judicial districts, civil defense areas, postal zones, congressional districts, forest districts, soil conservation districts, time zones, and others. Scales on the maps range from 1:500,000 for the reference maps of major cities to 1:34,000,000 for some of the thematic maps. The book itself is of a large folio size printed on heavy soil-resistant paper in 65 basic inks, and is fully indexed for facility of use. The binding is specially made to allow leaves to lie flat, thus preventing the loss of information in the spinal fold. It is available from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D.C., at a cost of one hundred dollars.) A Map.3:1970.U58n.n.c.
